Nancy grew up in Maryville, Tennessee and returned to live there with her family in 2008. She graduated from Carson-Newman College in Jefferson City, Tennessee and Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary in Fort Worth, Texas. Prior to marrying her husband Mark, she worked as a campus minister in Tennessee and Winnipeg, Canada. After her marriage, she and Mark, along with their four children, served with the organization Mercy Ships from 1999-2007, living in the countries of England, Liberia, and Ghana. In 2015 Nancy became a Presbyterian, and in 2017 she became an inquirer in ministry in the Presbytery of East Tennessee. Providence Forge is her first call, and she's excited about joining you at this extraordinary time in the life of the church and about getting to know all of you.
